Lund University Hall ● Welcome: moderator Catarina Rolfsdotter-Jansson
Opening session Introduction: Philip Sandberg, Mayor of the City of Lund and Christian Danielsson 09:00-09:30 Head of EU Commission Rep. in Sweden.
Interview: Erik Renström, Vice Chancellor Lund University, Ola Svedin, CEO Mobile Heights and Maria Strömvik, Centre for European Studies.

Lund University Hall ● Cecilia Malmström keynote speaker – EU's challenges post covid-19
09:30-10:15 After the tidal waves originating from the 45th president of the United States, and more than a year of a global pandemic, conditions and trade relations have changed in ways that could not have been predicted a few years ago. What will the economy and trade of the future look like and what will be the biggest challenges for the EU in achieving a strong, green and digital transition?
Within the European Union, we also experience a change taking place with ever-increasing xenophobia, nationalism and restrictions of democratic rights – especially for women and LGBTQI persons.
How can the EU bring forth a united Europe, where all countries in cooperation stand up for democracy, human rights and the rule of law?

Lund University Building ● Networking Coffeebreak (coffee is served in connection with the seminars)

SESSION 1 ● SEMINAR 1 // The EU's civil protection and response to disasters
AF-Borgen / Gustafscenen By: EU Commission
11:00-12:00 Extreme weather conditions and emerging threats, such as the coronavirus, have overwhelmed the ability of Member States to aid each other, especially when several countries face the same type of disaster simultaneously.
How is the EU helping its Members States? What is the role of Sweden and how does Sweden benefit from the support? What can the pandemic teach us of prevention and preparedness?
Speakers: Hans Das, Director Emergency Management and rescEU in DG ECHO, European Commission, Dr Andrea Ammon, Director of ECDC (European Centre for Disease Prevention and Control), Elisabeth Backteman, State Secretary to Minister for Home Affairs Mikael Damberg, Sara Myrdal, Director of International Affairs, Swedish Civil Contingencies Agency (MSB).
Moderator: Catarina Rolfsdotter-Jansson.

● SEMINAR 2 // Europe's Digital Future

By: DigIT Hub

How can digitalisation be used as an engine to develop better tailored services – that are accessible, efficient, and sustainable in the long-run?

In this program track, led by Digit Hub, we invite you to explore possibilities within The Digital Europe - where decision-makers, citizens, businesses and academia benefit from digital tools and processes that serve to increase cooperation and dialogue between sectors.

During this hour, we are guested by three prominent speakers in the field, who will discuss, share and inspire in the following areas:

- Technology: GovTech and eGovernance – Liza-Maria Norlin, Process Manager at GovTech Sweden
- Knowledge: Digital Skills and Inclusion – Helena Lovegrove, Director of Operations and Projects at DIGITALEUROPE
- Policy: Digitalisation in Europe - The Digital Europe Program – Anne-Marie Sassen, Acting Head of Unit of the "Digital Transformation of industrial ecosystems" unit at DG CONNECT, European Commission.

Moderator: Yasemin Arhan Modéer.

SESSION 1
University Hall
11:00-12:00

● SEMINAR 3 // European competitiveness and global geopolitics

By: Lund University, Centre for European Studies

This seminar raises the question if the necessary geopoliticisation of EU competition policy can avoid the development of a new form of European protectionism, such as facilitating European champions through relaxed state aid and merger control. In the light of this the European Commission's flagship initiative, the New Industrial Strategy for Europe, will be discussed.

Speakers: Cecilia Malmström, former European Commissioner for Trade, Anna Stellingner, Deputy Director-General at the Confederation of Swedish Enterprise, Head of International and EU Affairs, Joakim Gullstrand, Professor of Economics at Lund University.

Moderator: Jörgen Hettne.

● Lunch AF-Borgen

(Streamed to all premises from Stockholm)
13:15-13:30

- Minister Speech // Hans Dahlgren, Minister for EU Affairs
One of the European Union's greatest strengths is its core commitment to upholding fundamental democratic values. It is my firm belief that this has been a main reason for the success of the European project. Unfortunately, these values are increasingly called into question. Even, in some cases, by the governments of some member states. How do we strengthen, and safeguard, the rule of law, democracy and human rights in the EU?

SESSION 2
AF-Borgen / Lilla salen
13:15-14:30

(The initial 15 minutes of the SESSION 2 seminars includes the streamed speech
by Hans Dahlgren, Minister for EU Affairs)

- SEMINAR 1 // Rule of Law in the EU – future prospects and challenges
By: EU Commission
Rule of law is a very topical issue in today's EU. It is one of the EU's most fundamental values that EU Member States have committed themselves to respect through their membership. The principle means that all public powers must always act within the constraints set out by law and under the control of independent and impartial courts without interference from, for example, politicians.
This seminar aims to discuss how we can ensure the respect of the rule of law principles across the EU? What can we do when they are increasingly being put into question by Member States? Can the EU do more about the political interference on the justice system and judges? The seminar will also raise rule of law in the context of the Covid-19-pandemic and attacks on LGBTIQ and women's rights.
Speakers: Hans Dahlgren, Minister for EU Affairs, Didier Reynders, EU Commissioner for Justice, Abir Al-Sahlani, Member of the European Parliament for the Swedish Center Party, Mia Edwall Insulander, Secretary General of the Swedish Bar Association.
Moderator: Willy Silberstein.

SESSION 2

13:15-14:30

- SEMINAR 2 // European semiconductor initiatives and their Lund perspective
By: Lund University, NanoLund
To provide a secure and stable digital infrastructure is central for the function of our society, and critical for the transition towards a climate neutral economy. However, our vulnerability is on full display since large industrial sectors are hit by shortage of semiconductor components for computer chips. Europe is now mobilising to become self-sustaining and world-leading. How will we succeed? What are the hurdles? And what does research in Lund has to do with it?
Speakers: Dr Colette Maloney, Head of Unit, Microelectronics and Photonics Industry, European Commission - DG Communications Networks, Content and Technology, Igor Tasevski, Vice President, Product Development Unit Radio, Ericsson, Lars-Erik Wernersson, Professor Nanoelectronics, Lund University and Anders Mikkelsen, Professor, Director NanoLund, Lund University.
Moderator: Yasemin Arhan Mod er.

● SEMINAR 1 // Space Node South and European space programmes

By: City of Lund & European Space Agency

Space Node South take off from the idea that the extreme conditions that space entails can serve as a key to innovative solutions for a sustainable society on Earth. With inspiration from, and the support of space research, we can create smart and sustainable innovations for the entire society. In addition to functioning as a competence and network hub, Space Node South wants to enable an innovation platform and test bed for development projects at the interface between the space industry, public service, research and academia.

Speakers: Anna Rathsmann, Director General, Swedish National Space Agency, Niels Eldering, Technology Transfer Officer, European Space Agency, Maria Lindblom, Business coach and projekt manager, ESA Bic Sweden/Ideon Innovation, Gabriel Delerín, chairman, Swedish Astronomical Youth Association.

Moderator: Anders Bengtsson.

● SEMINAR 2 // Cyber Security

By: Mobile Heights

Cyber security is a key technology area for a strong Digital Europe.

The EU Commission has presented a proposal for a revised Directive on Security of Network and Information Systems. The goal of the new proposal is a safe and open global internet, focusing on the protection of European values and fundamental rights. What does this mean for research and for the implementation of cyber security technology for companies and organizations in Europe?

Speakers: Shahid Raza, RISE and Eva Fogelström, ERICSSON.

Moderator: Yasemin Arhan Modéer.

● SEMINAR 3 // Lund asks about Mission: 100 Climate Neutral Cities

By: City of Lund

As part of the European Green Deal the EU has launched a mission for 100 Climate Neutral Cities by 2030. The mission is part of the Horizon Europe programme and aims to support the creation of climate-neutral cities that will contribute to the overarching goal of a climate neutral continent. Lund is one of the hundreds of European cities that have expressed support for the mission.

At this seminar the City of Lund twists the popular Swedish television show “Fråga Lund” (Eng: Ask Lund) concept. Instead of Lund answering the questions it will be Lund that asks the questions to a panel of representatives from the EU-commission, Lund University, Vinnova and Viable cities. The panellists include Anders Wijkman, Vice-chairman Viable cities and chairman Climate-KIC, Matthew Baldwin, Deputy Director-General of DG MOVE and Manager of the mission for 100 Climate Neutral Cities 2030. Per Mickwitz, Pro Vice-Chancellor for research, sustainability and campus development at Lund University, Hedda Roberts, Partnerships & External Relations Manager, Circle Center.

Moderator: Catarina Rolfsdotter-Jansson.
